New Branches on the Wesleyan Family Tree

Tradition: the handing down of information, beliefs, and customs by word of mouth or by example from one generation to another. (Webster's Seventh New Collegiate Dictionary)

Thirty-three sisters, daughters, granddaughters, and great-granddaughters of Wesleyan alumnae are on campus this fall, new branches on the Wesleyan family tree. Armed with the traditions passed on to them by family members who have loved and cherished Wesleyan, these students have an inherent sense of belonging.

Perhaps no other student on campus better exemplifies this joy of belonging than freshman Katie Brennan of Lakeland, Florida.

Based on oral history, Katie's family places her great-great grandmother, Georgia Ellen Watters, at Wesleyan in the early 1850's and another great-great grandmother, Frances Emaline Lowry, in the early 1860's. Georgia Ellen moved to the wilderness of Bartow, Florida with her husband and reared her four young children alone after his early death. To support her family, she opened a private school where she taught, and also ran the records department at the county courthouse. While Georgia Ellen pursued two careers, Frances Emaline Lowry married, reared a family of 12 children, and lived her entire life in her hometown of Dalton, Georgia.

The following generation was a musical one. Ela Sheffield, Katie's grandmother, entered Wesleyan in 1892 at the age of 15 and her sister, Bernie attended Wesleyan at the same time. At first, Ela was majoring in piano and Bernie was majoring in voice. While the girls were at home for the Christmas holidays, the family was gathered around the piano singing Christmas carols when Ela heard her father say he would give anything if he could hear Ela carry a tune. This chance remark so disturbed her that Ela returned to Wesleyan and quietly changed her major. She told her grandchildren that she never sang again in front of her father until her senior recital. At the recital, she sang every note directly to her father while he sat in the audience with tears running down his cheeks. She excelled to the point that she received the gold medal in voice and Bernie received the medal for piano. Both were graduated from Wesleyan in 1896.

After graduation, representatives from the Metropolitan Opera invited her to sing with the Met. Her father, however, objected to having his daughter appear on stage, and so Ela's singing career was restricted to church performances and private recitals.

A generation passed before another member of the family attended Wesleyan. In 1951, Katie's mother, Pauline Mann Brennan, entered Wesleyan. Unlike her grandmother, Ela, Pauline was not hampered by restrictive social traditions and was able to enter the career of her choice. After graduating with a major in modern languages, she pursued a career as an analyst with the National Security Agency in Washington, D.C. Later she taught English, French, Spanish, speech and drama in high school, and she continues to tutor students in these areas.

In 1980, Katie's sister, Annie Laurie, was graduated from Wesleyan with a degree in English. Demonstrating the versatility of a liberal arts degree from Wesleyan, she is employed in the accounting department at Walt Disney World.

Having heard about Wesleyan all her life and having visited the campus for the first time at the age of three, Katie has known she wanted to attend Wesleyan since she first swam in the Alpha Delta Pi Fountain 15 years ago.

"There's a spirit of Wesleyan that has been handed down from generation to generation," says Katie, "and now I find myself spreading that spirit to my classmates and hometown friends."

Another Wesleyan freshman, Elaine Owens, always has been aware of the Wesleyan tradition in her family. Elaine's great-great-great-grandfather, Edward H. Myers, was Wesleyan's third president, 1851-1854. His daughter, Fannie Myers Hitch, 1868, was Elaine's great-great-grandmother.

From that time, the family has had close ties with Wesleyan as well as Methodism.

A Methodist missionary in Korea, Elaine's great-grandfather wanted his children to return to the United States for their education at Methodist colleges. Both of his daughters—Betty Hitch Owens, '34, Elaine's grandmother, and Mary Lois Hitch Felton, '38—came to Wesleyan.

Betty Owens settled in Valdosta with her doctor husband, Bennett Owens, and they both continue to be actively involved with the Methodist Church, college students, Methodist youth groups, and community affairs. The parents of three sons, it was another generation before a granddaughter came to Wesleyan.

While growing up, granddaughter Elaine always enjoyed hearing her grandmother's "when I went to Wesleyan" stories. Elaine's interest in Wesleyan was further influenced during visits to campus to see her aunt, Lucy Lee '78. The spirit of Wesleyan was a family tradition and by her senior year in high school Elaine was determined to be a Wesleyanne.

What at Wesleyan means the most to her? "It's home," says Elaine. "You automatically have a family when you arrive on campus. And for me, it's more than that. Everywhere I look I find the name of one of my ancestors."

Wesleyan Freshmen Committed to Career Preparation

Corporate recruiters are aware of changes on women's colleges' campuses since the 1960's, according to Bob Brocksland, manager of college recruiting for Mobil Oil Corporation. He says the most significant change is a stronger commitment to career preparation.

Wesleyan's 1983-84 freshman class confirms this commitment. Of 137 freshmen, the majority indicate career interest in the areas of math and science, computer science, and business administration. While many freshmen have not named their majors at this time, an increasing number have expressed interest in the Internship Program which is designed to give students the opportunity to gain work experience in several areas of interest.

To further promote academic and career success, Virginia Berlin, Wesleyan's director of counseling and placement, has coordinated a series of freshmen seminars with "Women and Achievement" as its theme. Faculty and professional businesswomen are addressing freshmen in both academic and career oriented subjects relative to their present needs.

The series began with a history of convocation and was followed by a seminar on "Achievement Motivation in Women" directed by Dr. Deborah Richardson from the University of Georgia. "Achieving Academic Success," the third seminar, focused on time management, test taking, study skills, and stress management. Planning a course of study, using the college catalogue, figuring grade point averages, and assuming responsibility for one's academic life was covered in another seminar.

A panel of Wesleyan upperclassmen discussed adjusting to college life in a seminar entitled "Achieving Successful Transition from High School to College." One of the most popular of the seminars, "Relating Academics and Careers," stressed career planning and the value of outside work experience such as the Internship Program and summer jobs.

Wesleyan strives to help young women gain the confidence needed to speak out, to be assertive, and to achieve success while in college, says Mrs. Berlin. That success and confidence is the best possible preparation for achieving success in a career and in the community.

FORMER WESLEYAN ART STUDENTS SHARE MEMORIES OF EMIL HOLZHAUER

Former Wesleyan art professor, Emil Holzhauer, influenced the art and philosophy of many of his students, among them, Theresa Rett English '49.

Emil Holzhauer, former professor of art at Wesleyan, was honored recently with an exhibit of his works at the Museum of Arts and Sciences in Macon. Titled "Emil Holzhauer: A Retrospective," the exhibit featured 64 of his drawings, water colors and oil paintings, 22 of which were on loan from local admirers and former students. The exhibit was held from September 13 to October 13.

Four of Mr. Holzhauer's former students, Marianne Dunn, Theresa English, Eugenia Simmons and Anne Tutt Kalinin were on hand for the opening reception to offer their recollections of Emil Holzhauer in an informal discussion moderated by former Wesleyan art professor Joel Plum.

"He has been one of the finest teachers I've had," said Macon artist and art teacher Theresa English. "He'll be a part of me as long as I paint."

Mr. Holzhauer was instrumental in helping Mrs. English obtain a four-year scholarship to study art at Wesleyan, and she later taught with him.

"I just can't begin to tell you what he meant to me. He taught me so much of the fundamentals."

Mrs. English also remembers that he was a truly dedicated artist, completing all of his works on location whether it was in the bitter cold or stifling heat. Mr. Holzhauer's subject matter was very much ahead of its time. He was painting rundown buildings and weathered barns long before they were in vogue. Although people at the time "didn't want to see those things," says Theresa English, "he wanted to paint life as it was. Through his eyes the ugly became beautiful."

Mr. Holzhauer was born in Germany in 1887. His dedication became apparent at an early age as he began working 10 hours a day as a silver and metalware apprentice, while studying arts and crafts for four hours a day. He finished his apprenticeship at the factory in his hometown in 1905 and came to New York City during the following year, finding temporary employment with the George Keppler Jewelry Company. He continued to pursue his studies, however, and joined the Henri School of Art in New York in 1909.

Robert Henri, America's premier artist at the turn of the century was Mr. Holzhauer's teacher and mentor during those early years of study. Although Mr. Holzhauer did not become a part of the avant-garde developments in art pioneered by Henri and his followers, in which the traditional rules and subject matters of the realist artists were challenged, he nevertheless became a popular contributor to the New York art scene. His exhibits were well received and very much in demand in the 1930's.

By 1938, Mr. Holzhauer had become an instructor himself at Bennett Junior College in Millbrook, New York, where he began to develop a strong and lasting commitment to teaching. He left Bennett in 1940 to join the faculty of the Asheville School for Boys in Asheville, North Carolina. In Asheville, Mr. Holzhauer "found the light in the South intriguing...such color...so much space...so much to paint." He became professor of art at Wesleyan in 1942 and retired here in 1953. After moving to Boggy Bayou in Niceville, Florida, Mr. Holzhauer continued to teach and exhibit, becoming a moving force in the Gulf Coast's artistic development.

Anne Tutt Kalinin, owner of Anne Tutt Studio-Gallery in Macon, handled Mr. Holzhauer's paintings in the early 1970's. He often painted on both sides of the paper, she said, and as a result had $2000 to $3000 paintings on each side. When Mrs. Kalinin asked why he had done that, he told her, "I paint for love, not for money."

Although later, when they had finished cataloging his works and he realized the amount of revenue he had lost, he told her, "I was a fool."

Anne Tutt Kalinin sees her former teacher as "one of the strongest influences on my life as far as art is concerned."

Another of his students, Eugenia Simmons, remembers that some of the students were frightened by Mr. Holzhauer's harsh criticisms when he first came to teach at Wesleyan.

"He was hard, but you learned," she said.

Mr. Holzhauer once went to an art festival Mrs. Simmons had entered near his Florida home to critique her work, even though at the time he was 89 years old and had failing eyesight.

"He was absolutely a big influence," she said. "I think about him all the time. I always try to remember what he taught us."

Marianne Dunn, another former student who participated in the exhibit's opening, says, "I'll always remember most following him down the dirt streets of Macon, into the alleys and painting the shacks. I think Macon was lucky to have had him."

Mr. Holzhauer's popular print of the Wesleyan conservatory is prized by many alumnae and friends of the College.

Emil Holzhauer, 96, and his wife, Marion, currently reside in Niceville, Florida.

New Trustee Elected

Dr. William Cummings

William F. Cummings, Vice-President-Human Resources of Charter Medical Corporation, was elected to the Wesleyan College Board of Trustees at the October 20 meeting.

Vice-President since joining Charter Medical in 1975, Dr. Cummings also is chairman of the Human Resource Committee, a member of the Corporate Development Committee, and staff to the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors.

Prior to joining Charter Medical, he was manager of organization development with the Bechtel Corporation. From 1965 to 1967, Dr. Cummings was assistant professor at St. Mary's College, California, where he taught both graduate and undergraduate courses. He was an assistant professor at St. Mary's College in Indiana from 1962 to 1965.

Currently, Dr. Cummings is vice-president of the Macon-Bibb County Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Macon-Bibb County United Way Campaign for 1983, and finance chairman for the George Israel re-election campaign for mayor.

Dr. Cummings received his Bachelor of Arts degree in philosophy and his Master of Arts in psychology from I.C. College in Wisconsin. He earned a second master's degree in semitic languages from Catholic University in Washington, D.C. In 1962, he received his Ph.D. in psychology from Instituto Pontifici Biblici in Rome, Italy.

Energy Conservation Constitutes Significant Savings

In September 1983, Wesleyan's new heating system was completed with the assistance of a $350,000 grant awarded to the College by the Georgia Office of Energy Resources. Previously, an extensive survey of energy use conducted by consulting engineers Nottingham, Brook, and Pennington, found Wesleyan's energy consumption to be three times greater per square foot than that of Mercer, a campus of comparable size and age.

Predictions that energy and cost savings from this new system would be tremendous have been realized after one year on the new system. Arthur Brook, consulting engineer, has found that the operating costs savings for the first year of operation exceed $200,000. These energy savings include reductions in gas and electricity, no purchases of fuel oil, and less maintenance on equipment.

"These operating costs savings not only indicate that the energy conservation measures enacted by Wesleyan College were most appropriate," writes Mr. Brook, "but indicate a very conscious effort by the College administration and students to save energy wherever possible."

Mr. Brook predicts that Wesleyan will recover its financial investment in the energy project in one and a half more years.

Board of Associates Names Officers

Joe Timberlake

The Wesleyan College Board of Associates has announced its new officers for the year 1983-1984. Serving as President is Joe Timberlake, III, president of Timberlake Grocery Company; as Vice-President, Marion (Brother) Liles, Jr., Senior Trust Officer with Trust Company Bank of Middle Georgia; and as Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Trudie Sessions, Wesleyan alumna.

The Board also has appointed seven new members who will serve three-year terms. They are: Dr. Toof A. Boone, Jr., orthodontist; E. Max Crook, City President of The First National Bank of Atlanta; Eugene S. Hatcher, attorney; Jack Haugabook, Vice President and Trust Officer of The Georgia Bank; Bryan G. Leskosky, President of LJI International Trucks, Inc.; Harold C. Weathers, Vice-President of Atlanta Gas Light Company; and Floyd B. Williams, President of Williams & Associates, Inc.

Appointed by the President of Wesleyan College, the Board of Associates members are selected from the business, professional, and civic leadership of the greater Macon area. The group seeks to serve the college in communicating the mission of Wesleyan to the greater Macon community.

Another important goal of the Board of Associates is to assist the President of the College in developing a broad, sustained, and secure base of financial support in the Middle Georgia area. Each fall the board conducts a corporate fund campaign in the greater Macon business community.

Wesleyan

Acknowledging that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," Acting President Frederick Wilson takes time out for dancing with his wife, Henry Kate, at the Father-Daughter Weekend square dance in the Oval Hall.

New Wesleyan trustee, Dr. William Cummings, has the rapt attention of his audience as he gives a lecture on "Exploring the World of Women."

Marking the official opening of the academic year, the class of 1984 marches in procession to the Porter Family Auditorium for Convocation. Dr. Frederick Wilson gave the Convocation address.

Alumnae Club and Chapter Activities

JACKSONVILLE CLUB

The Jacksonville Wesleyan Alumnae Club elected new officers for 1983-1984 at their spring meeting. Elected were Wanda Strickland Sauls, '74, president; Kathy Amidon MacGregor, '73, vice-president; Connie Napier Coats, '74, secretary; and Debbie Peacock Norris, '79, treasurer. The Club met again on November 12 for a breakfast buffet at the Sea Turtle.

ATLANTA CLUB

A general meeting of Atlanta area Wesleyan alumnae was held November 1 at Northside United Methodist Church. Dr. Frederick Wilson, acting president of Wesleyan, was guest speaker. Lucy Anne Fisackerly Adams, '80, gave a musical program.

Newly elected officers are Rosaline Gilmore Burt, '48, president; Ruth White Fruit, '54, vice-president (groups); Beverly Banks Boland, '49, and Emily Mallet Johnston, '49, second vice-presidents (ways and means); Mildred Fincher Efland, '42, third vice-president (publicity); Jean Henninger Smith, '48, recording secretary; Monica Holt Oliver, '30, corresponding secretary; Kathy Gibbs Steinbruegge, '45, treasurer; Mary Lester Brooks, '29, auditor; Mary Catherine Collins O'Kelley, '72, parliamentarian; Betsy Palmer Smith, '60, registrar; Judy Sanders, '79, phonathon; and Jeanette Loflin Lang, '63, nominating.

The Atlanta phonathon, coordinated by Judy Sanders, was held November 8 and 9 at Perimeter Center encouraging pledges to the 1983-84 Alumnae Loyalty Fund.

ATLANTA ALUMNAE PROFESSIONAL GROUP

On September 22, the Atlanta Alumnae Professional Group held a dinner meeting at the Perimeter Marriott. Dr. Frederick Wilson, acting president, addressed the group. Frances Van Horn, '53, director of alumnae affairs, and Rose Mary McKelvey, '77, director of institutional advancement at Wesleyan, also spoke.

This group, chaired by Darla Grinstead, met again on November 17. At this time, the group, formerly Atlanta Young Alumnae Professionals, opened its membership to all professional alumnae in Atlanta.

ATLANTA GROUP IV

Atlanta Group IV alumnae meet monthly on second Saturdays. On November 12, they met at the home of Gail Corcoran-Freundt, '69, who has designed a large ceramic mural for MARTA among other design projects. This group will meet on December 10 for lunch at the Swan Coach House. An Atlanta Club Fund Raising Seminar is planned for February 25. Arline Harris, '24, is chairman of Atlanta Group IV.

SAVANNAH CLUB

The Savannah Club held a brunch on September 24 at the home of Peggy Worrell Murphy, '51. New officers are Deborah Bell Roberds, '75, president; Rebecca McLeod, '70, vice-president and program chairman; Day Wilson Watson, '51, secretary; and Courtney Knight Gaines, '51; treasurer.

MACON CLUB

On October 18, Macon alumnae met at the College. Adrian Kelly Wood, '73, president, presided and Dr. Kayron McMinn, dean of the College, was guest speaker. The Wesleyannes performed.

The new Macon Alumnae Link Program, called "You Gotta Have a Heart," is underway. Many Macon alumnae have "adopted" a Wesleyan freshman (Golden Hearts) to encourage friendship and community spirit.

The Silver Thimble Needlework Show has been planned for March 18-20, 1984 during Macon's Cherry Blossom Festival.

PEACH AREA CHAPTER

Dr. Ernestine Bledsoe, '33, chairman of the Peach Area Alumnae Chapter presided at the October 13 meeting. Dr. Wilson addressed the group. Others from Wesleyan attending the meeting were Henry Kate Wilson; Frances Van Horn, '53, director of alumnae affairs; Rose Mary McKelvey, '77, director of institutional advancement; and Katherine Wilson Johnson, '68, director of the alumnae-admissions program.

GOLDEN ISLES CHAPTER

The Golden Isles Chapter will host a Christmas Coffee on December 3 at the home of Mary Miller, '24, in Brunswick, Georgia. Lloyd Young Flanders, '56 is chapter chairman.

NATIONAL WESLEYAN ALUMNAE PHONATHON

Wesleyan's annual nationwide phonathon was held November 1-17 to encourage pledges to the 1983-84 Alumnae Loyalty Fund. The 1983-84 Alumnae Loyalty Fund. The 1983-84 goal is $250,000 and 30 percent alumnae participation by June 30, 1984.

Young Alumnae of Wesleyan Established

Mary Gail Thompson, '81, is chairman of a newly established alumnae group, the Young Alumnae of Wesleyan. Comprised of 1980's alumnae, the directing committee includes Patti Stanukinos, '82; Ginger Caldwell, '83; and Peggy Jones Stanton, '83.

Their first project is to raise $5,000 from the 1980's alumnae through the Alumnae Loyalty Fund by Wesleyan's sesquicentennial in 1986. Any gifts to the Loyalty Fund from members of these classes will count toward the goal.

Alumnae Council

The Wesleyan Alumnae Council meeting was held September 8 in the Candler Alumnae Center with Laura Barkley, '68, president of the Alumnae Association, presiding. Sixty-three members of the council attended.

Dr. Frederick Wilson, Acting President of the College, reported an increased enrollment of 137 in the freshman class, good financial status of the College, and completion of the self-study for the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities for accreditation.

In her report to the Council, Dr. Kayron McMinn, dean of the College, stated that the majority of Wesleyan's freshman class is interested in pursuing degrees and careers in math and science, including computer science, and business administration. She also stated that Wesleyan's computer science program is one of the fastest growing academic areas. Wesleyan's Center for Continuing Studies has increased its new student enrollment from last year by more than 100 percent.

Emphasizing that the alumnae are Wesleyan's greatest resource, Katherine Johnson, '68, alumnae admissions representatives director, said that 111 alumnae admissions representatives in 13 states have joined the program.

Trustee Valeria Murphey, '40, chairman of the Presidential Search Committee, gave a brief report on the progress of the committee. She also expressed her pleasure that Dr. Wilson is serving as acting president.

Reporting for the Nominating Committee, Mary Catherine Collins O'Kelley, '72, announced two positions to be voted on at the Annual Alumnae Meeting on April 7, 1984. Elizabeth Sorrells Webb, '69, has been nominated alumnae trustee and Sally Shingler Kurrie, '70, has been nominated member-at-large for church relations for the term 1984-1987.

Scheduled for April 6-8, 1984, Alumnae Weekend plans are underway. Linda Anderson Bailey, '71, is chairman.

We hope ROSE PATRICK JENNINGS, Magnolia Manor, Americus, GA, had a happy 104th birthday on October 8. Having earned a Bachelor of Music degree in 1901, Rose is Wesleyan's oldest alumna!

It was a joyous occasion when EDITH CULPEPPER TURPIN, Macon, GA, visited her granddaughter Adriana Morison and her husband Humphrey in London, England, in July for the christening of their infant daughter Elinor. The Morisons then visited Edith in Macon in August. Her daughter Mrs. Lee Potter of Winston-Salem, NC, also came to visit in August-timing her visit so she could see her niece and family.

Founder of Alfalit, a program for literacy among rural poor in Central and South America, VAIL JONES WEEMS, Sebring, FL, was honored May 22 by Sebring United Methodist Church for her many contributions to this project. During the benefit silver tea, Vail was draped with a ribbon which read "Mrs. Florida Methodist," presented a poem and book of remembrances titled "This is Your Life Vail Weems," and given plaques by both Alfalit and Wesleyan College. Local pastor Dr. McCoy Gibbs read letters from bishops in the Southeastern Jurisdiction who have worked with Vail for four decades.

honored at a luncheon at The New Perry Hotel, Perry, Ga., in celebration of her 85th birthday. Hosts were her daughters and their husbands: PAULINE DOMINGOS LESTER, '45, and LUCIA DOMINGOS CHAPMAN, '48. Twenty-six members of her family gathered from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, and Tennessee for this happy occasion. Earlier in the week her two granddaughters LUCIA CHAPMAN CARR, '77, and BETTY CHAPMAN FREEMAN had a party at Magnolia Manor, Americus, for Lucia, to which they invited all those who live in the Garden Apartments there.

"Star-Dusting", a collection of lyrical poems by EVELYN SEWELL RINEER, Cairo, GA, is just off the press. Although "Star-Dusting" is her first book, Evelyn has had poems published previously in literary journals and periodicals. She was awarded recognition for selections appearing in the World of Poetry's "Today's Great Poems, an anthology." Evelyn writes that much of her inspiration and motivation come from work done in the Wesleyan library as well as from Dr. Gignilliat, Dr. Akers, and Prof. Daniel.

Elaine Owens, the granddaughter of BETTY HITCH OWENS, Valdosta, GA, is a student at Wesleyan this year. Edward Howell Myers, president of Wesleyan was her grandfather five generations back. Betty writes that her family was not represented at Wesleyan in the last generation because she had three sons.

to Hendersonville, NC, to visit her son and his family, stopped in Griffin, GA, to visit classmate, MILLIE SCRUGGS ANDREWS. Since Bernardine had not been on the Wesleyan campus for many years, LIB BOWERS BOWEN, Griffin, joined them for an afternoon trip to Wesleyan, where ANN MUNCK and ALICE DOMINGOS, '40, (Bernardine's "little sister") received them. There were so many reminiscences and so much catching up to do that a complete tour of campus was not possible, but one especially nostalgic trip was to the Dice R. Anderson Cabin. Bernardine was Chairman of the Cabin Commission of the Y.W.C.A. when the cabin was completed in 1938. Before the group returned to Griffin, ANN MARIA DOMINGOS, '39, Macon joined them for dinner.

The mother of eight children, BARBARA DAVIS MORGAN, Covington, GA, spends much of her time enjoying her eight grandchildren. Her oldest daughter, Barbara, is press secretary for Georgia Governor Joe Frank Harris. Barbara keeps up with the bookkeeping for her husband's varied business interests and hopes to sell out their home and auto supply store soon so that they can retire.

LOUISE WADSWORTH JEFF-COAT, Columbia, SC, writes the '39 girls who were not at the reunion this spring; "I know what you thought when you saw our picture in the Alumnae Magazine: 'How old they look!' Believe me, it was the camera lens... or the magnolia pollen...or something, because my own snapshot of the group proves that with the addition of Stoop Sharp, we could have had ourselves a basketball team! We talked about the same things we did while at Wesleyan—the teachers and each other. (You should have heard some of the tales Dr. Gin remembered about Mr. Collins.) The only sad part of the get-together was not knowing what had happened to some of you. Highlight of the weekend was the beautiful dinner given by Ann Maria and Alice Domingos and Ann Munck."

After 16 years as head of the Brunswick Junior College nursing program, HELEN BLOODWORTH, Brunswick, GA, has retired. Helen entered nursing after a 13 year career as a meteorologist. At a reception in her honor upon her retirement, the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia conferred the titles of Associate Professor Emerita of Nursing and Chairman Emerita of the Department of Nursing upon Helen.

In June, CHRISTINE ROUNTREE ANDERSON, Atlanta, GA, and DOROTHY ROUNTREE BUDD, '39, Atlanta, GA, were hostesses at a luncheon in honor of their former Wesleyan music teacher, Doris Onderdonk Jelks. Friends and former students were present to honor her. Mrs. Jelks, former Dean of Fine Arts, was bestowed an honorary Doctor of Music degree from Wesleyan in 1964.

A recent article in the Columbus, GA, LEDGER described HELEN LOVEIN JACKSON as "still a lady, but not first." The former first lady of Columbus is as popular as ever and possibly busier. She is vice president of one family business, Morton Machine Works, and on the board of directors of another, Stonewall Jackson Investment Co. But she says it is her role as homemaker, mother, and grandmother that she finds most gratifying.

"When the Giver Gives, the Gates Open By Themselves"

Three Alumnae Share Plans for Giving

Mary Lane Edwards Cheek '49

I want to help Wesleyan because it is unique and I love it. It is unique in many aspects—its heritage as the forerunner of women's colleges, its traditions and Christian ideals, its small size and individual attention, and the Wesleyan "family" which really cares for each girl. I love the life-long friends that I've made both as a student and as an alumna, and cherish the bond of my family's history intertwined with hers.

My plan of giving life insurance to Wesleyan enables me to make a major gift for a modest tax deductible contribution (the premium). Wesleyan is the owner and beneficiary of the policy. This method of charitable giving does not deprive the family of the estate, and assures the institution of the gift even if the estate is depleted by taxes and other gifts. Furthermore, if circumstances should change, the donor is under no obligation to continue the contributions.

— Mary Lane Edwards Cheek, '49

My giving is a very simple, easy plan — a yearly contribution to the Loyalty Fund, contributions to the Atlanta/Wesleyan Club, memorials, and an inclusion in my will.

As to "why," I think that every Wesleyan alumna has been enriched inestimably by her years at Wesleyan. To her I am indebted for assurance, for friends, and a deeper Christian commitment. Any personal service and any financial help that I can give are my efforts to express my appreciation to the "oldest and best."

I would like to encourage each alumna to include Wesleyan in her will now. There is no better investment than Christian education. Even a little from all of us would total a large amount for Wesleyan.

— Irene Sewell Hobby, '22

Irene Sewell Hobby '22

Alexis Xides Bighley '67

When I first began my business, I looked for the best possible way I could help Wesleyan and decided to take out an insurance policy to benefit Wesleyan. This enables me to make a contribution to the College which is restricted to the premium payments of this policy. After the seventh year, Wesleyan may borrow on its value. This policy will endow a scholarship for students who love high academic rankings and leadership potential, and who are actively involved in student government or other campus organizations.

A good financial planner or insurance advisor can give you good guidelines for preparing such a plan. Premiums are tax deductible and approved by the IRS.

— Alexis Xides Bighley, '67

Wesleyan needs, as always, outright gifts as its primary source of alumnae support. For some alumnae, an additional contribution as a life income gift or life insurance policy may provide a means of both helping the College and at the same time, gaining tax savings.

Consider giving to Wesleyan in one of these ways:

- Gifts of Cash
- Gifts of Securities or Real Estate
- Gifts of Life Insurance
- Life Income Gifts
- Gifts Through Wills

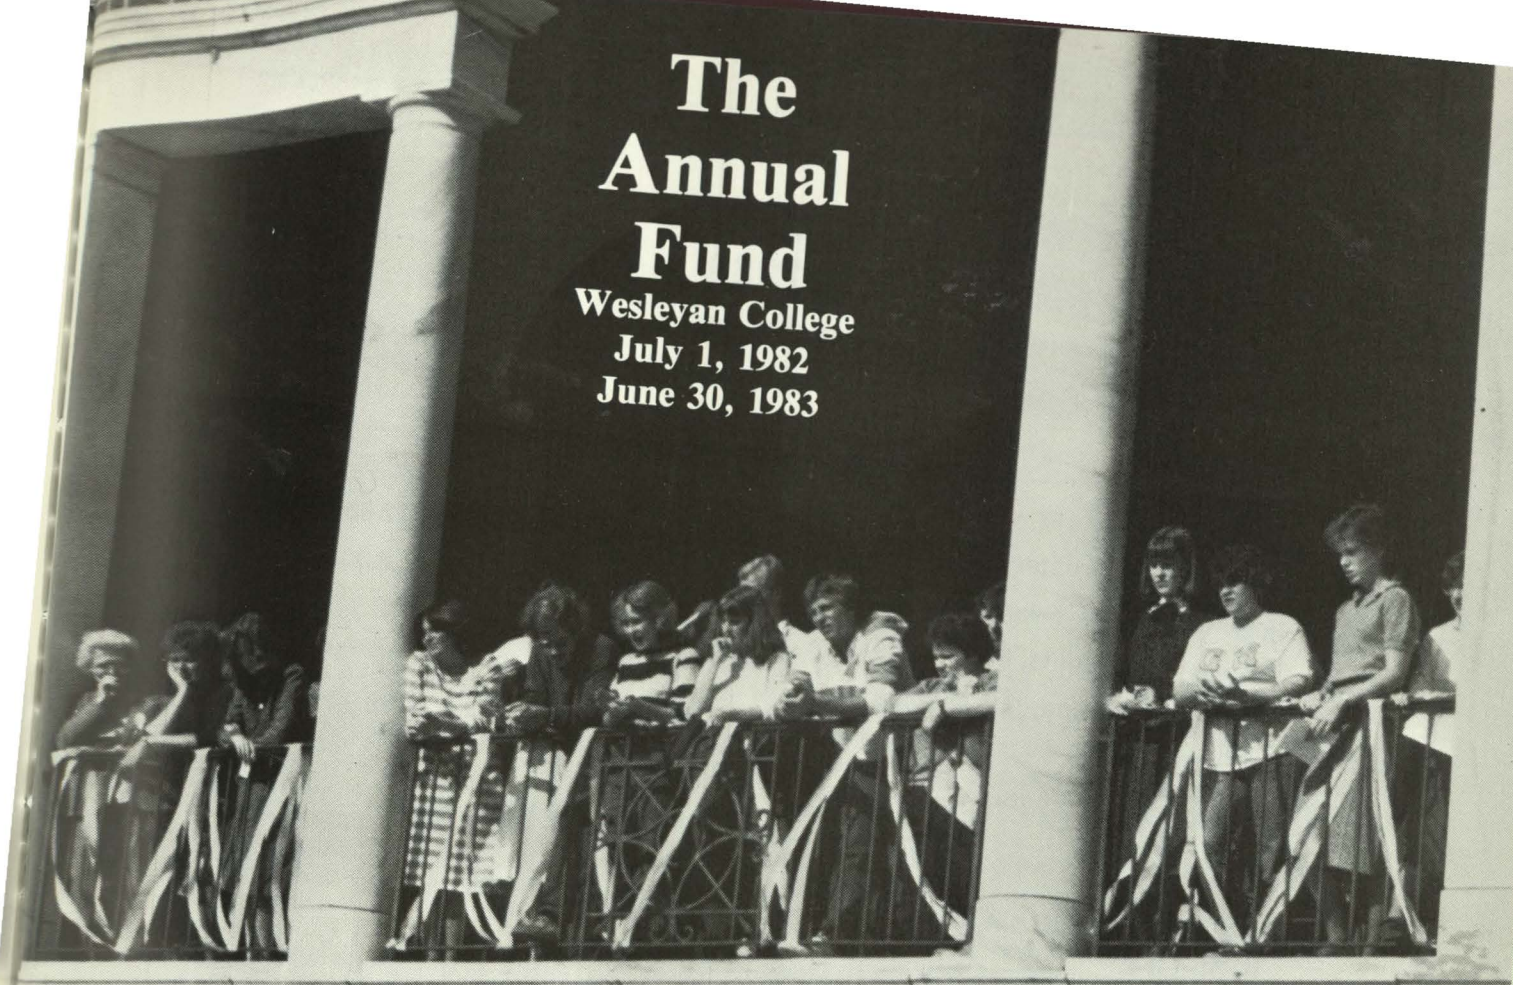

Your gift to Wesleyan perpetuates both your good works as an alumna and Wesleyan's good work as an institution dedicated to the education of women. For more information about the many ways in which you can help Wesleyan, contact the Office of Institutional Advancement.

GIFT CLUBS

Wesleyan College has three honorary gift clubs, designed to recognize and express appreciation to persons who make major gifts to the Annual Fund. These clubs include primarily donors of unrestricted gifts for operating expenses but also donors of some other major gifts, designated for specific purposes.

The 1836 Club is composed of persons who contribute $100 or more to the Annual Fund during one fiscal year.

The Achievement Club is composed of persons who contribute $500 to $999 to the Annual Fund during one fiscal year.

The Heritage Club is composed of persons who contribute $1,000 or more to the Annual Fund during our fiscal year.

A new gift club, The 1986 Club, has been added in anticipation of our forthcoming Sesquicentennial Year, 1986.
